Paper Rained on Triumphal Procession of 20 Autos-Celebration Continues Far Into Night.

The Cardinals are home and they know it is home.

The city took them to its bosom yesterday in unrestrained enthusiasm unequalled in the numbers participating except during the brave days of 1919, when its soldiers were returning from the World War.

Over 34 blocks of city streets they were paraded, through a mul-titude that throttled down their automobiles almost to a creeping pace, while thousands upon thousands poured into their ears the blasting racket of every noise-making device they could seize upon and full throats drowned the valiant efforts of brass bands. Tumult Continues Into Night.

Far into the night-long after the players over whom the tumult started were snatching their rest for the morrow-in every section of the city, blocking and choking the downtown with cruising automobiles, with horns and bells and whistles and sirens in full blast. the crowds pursued their obvious intention of telling the world that St. Louis relishes its first pennant in 38 years and the feel of a World's Series, baseball champion-

In the opinion of the three leading figures in baseball officialdom Commissioner Landis, President Heydler of the National League and President Johnson of the American League—the celebration surpassed all others in any of the major league cities. They attributed the great enthusiasm of St. Louis fans to the popularity of the Cardinals and Manager Horns-by, and to the fact that St. Louis was pennant-hungry.

FOR THE REST OF YOUR LIFE

This is Smith & Davis Day Bed No. 4220, Wood Beautiful and Jerviceab

You've never seen anything more beautiful than the new Smith & Davis Day Beds-in Metal and Wood-finished in Duco. And it's more than surface beauty.

Underneath is a marvelous but simple mechanism that makes opening and closing extremely easy. A slight pull and the upper spring section floats outward and settles gently beside the lower section, making a perfect bed. Even the legs fold and unfold automatically.

When closed there's ample space for bedding inside—a great convenience where closet room is limited.

Then there are the special Smith & Davis Coil Springs, wonderfully resilient, but strong - made to sit on, made to sleep on, "For the rest of your life."

Ask your Furniture Dealer. He knows, and will be glad to show you.

Six Bodies Found by Rescue Workers Mile From Scene of Gas and Dust Blast.

by the Associated Press.

ROCKFORD, Tenn., Oct. 5.-Two more bodies, making a total of six, were removed at 11:10 o'clock today from the Roane Iron Mining Co. mine, where 28 men are believed to have perished in an explosion in the Rodgers' entry yesterday. Those brought out were Clarence Stevens, who had previously been identified in the mine, and his laborer, Philip Gallion. There are believed to be 22 still in the mine.

Will and Arthur Teague, who were within three-quarters of a of the explosion, escaped injury and gas fumes by beating themselves when they heard the blast. They sought to rescue one of the two injured, G. E. Boles, but failed. Boles and Eddie Davis later were found unconscious. Two hundred miners are said to have been working in the No. 2 entry at the time of the explosion, but only 32 were in the Rodgers entry where the explosion trapped the men in a manner similar to that which took a toll of 12 lives in almost the same location in July,

Bodies Badly Charred. Bodies found have been partial-y identified as George Riddell C. Elliott, Gaither Smith and Harry Lingo, though positive identification was made virtually impossible by their charred condition and the decapitation of one. The condition of the bodies of Riddell and Elliott indicated, according to mine officials, that they were only stunned by the blast itself and succumbed later to the "after damp." Anxious relatives, mothers with babies in their arms, waited at the mouth of the entry for the rescue workers to emerge. All of them brought the same discouraging reports—that no life could exist with-in a quarter or half mile of the scene of the blast.

The explosion occurred in one of the furthermost regions of the mine, nearly three miles from the mouth of the entry and approximately 800 feet under the moun-

E VERYBODY wants to give the Cardinals something for ing, or for publicity. Nineteen requests from individuals and organizations that they be allowed to present gifts to the Cardinals at Sportsman's Park today were received by Commissioner Landis within two hours after his arrival in St. Louis, but only the official gifts of the Reception Committee will be made inside the park.

A week's board and lodging at a West End hotel is offered free to every member of the Cardinals if the team beats the Yankees, the proprietor announces. A downtown jewelry store will present a $500 diamond watch to the first Cardinal to score a run. A hat company will present each Cardinal with a hat, and a shoe store will give each Cardinal a pair of shoes, regardless of whether they score runs and beat the Yankees. A nursery will give apples to the Car-dinals, a box for each base made. Oh, it's great to be a Cardinal now.

Twelve policemen, three at each corner of the ball park, had no difficulty keeping order through the night, but shortly after sunrise 12 more were detailed to the park to rebuke shivering fans who had hit on the idea of tearing wood from lawn fences on Sullivan avenue to biuld bonfires. At 7:30 a. m. Lieut. Tabb, in charge at the park, asked for more men and 25 bluecoats were sent out.

Chief Gerk, anticipating a busy day, reached his office at 7 a. m. He had already ordered 800 men to the park at 9 a. m. and 300

At 1 o'clock tomorrow at Sportsman's Park 24 Cardinals will receive watches from a committee of fans. Manager Hornsby received his gift yesterday, a $4000 sedan. The other 24 will receive 19-jewel white gold watches, engraved: "Presented to (name of player) of the St. Louis Cardinals, National League Champions, by St. Louis fans, Oct. 5, 1926." The watches cost $100 each wholesale.

The committee making the pre-sentation, in behalf of fans who made contributions, will consist of Mayor Miller, Jack Grosse, H. M. Bixby, H. B. Deal, Robert Newman, R. King Kaufmann and Henry Hoffman.

HAY PLEADS FOR DRY DEMOCRATIC VOTES FOR HAWES

Recognized Prohibition Leader Tells Why He Prefers "Wet" Nominee of Party for U. S. Senate.

WITH CANDIDATE ON OTHER ISSUES

Justifies His Support of Hawes on Ground of Candor as Contrasted With

MARSHALL, Mo., Oct. 5 .- The Democratic State organization is counting big on the speaking tour of Charles M. Hay, recognized "dry" leader of the State, through the strong Democratic counties of north central Missouri, to line up reasonably solidly the "dry" Democratic vote for Harry B. Hawes, the party nominee for United States Senator. Hay spoke here last night,

Though it has refused to admit publicly that there was any dissatisfaction among rural Demo-crats with Hawes, it is known the organization has been concerned about the possibility of many rural Democrats staying at home on election day because of Hawes' advocacy of liberalization of the Vol-

Hay put the issue squarely up to the "drys" that in the senatorial campaign they had to choose be-tween a "wet" Republican and a "wet" Democrat and asserted that he had not the slightest difficulty in preferring the "wet" Democrat. He justified his support of Hawes on the ground of Hawes' candor, and on the fact that on all other issues than that of amendment of the Volstead act Hawes and all real Democrats, whether ly and unerringly arrive at a sound conclusion; and that we shall deobtaining temperance in this country is a success or is a fail-

'He is asking the voters of Missouri for the right to speak for them in the greatest Legislative body on earth," Hay continued. "He want them to trust him and vest him with the sacred authority of the people, and yet he refuses to tell the people what he believes, what he intends to say for them and in their behalf, on to take any chances. "He may speak 'dry' and vote 'wet,' or speak 'wet' and vote 'dry.' In fact, he may be 'dry' when they start to call the roll, but 'wet' before they get to his name.

and evasion one thing stands out supremely and that is that George H. Williams is ready and willing to take any position on any question that will commend him to State. He stands neither "wet" nor 'dry.' but he does stand for the he wants prohibition or does not that he wants to be Senator from Missouri.'

Hawes' Position Discussed. Outlining Hawes' position, Hay mid he did not agree with Hawes in his stand for modification of the Volstead act, but he stood with him in his opinion that so long as the eighteenth amendment stands it should be enforced; in his opposition to proposition No. 4, and in his opinion that the eighteenth amendment will not be repealed. Hay pointed to Hawes' record in the Legislature and in Congress as one which should convince wet or dry, stood together.

"I know how 'wet' Hawes is," Hay said. "Nobody on earth knows how 'wet' Williams is. He does not seem to know himself. If he has ever told his Maker, he has done it in the secrecy of the darkest and most remote closet he could find. In the primary he promised a frank statement of his position. His frank statement was: 'I have no doubt that when the facts are ascertained, we shall unhesitatingclare that the method adopted for Hay referred to Williams' declaration in the primary that he would vote on prohibition questions in accordance with the wishes of the voters of Missouri, and raised a question as to how Williams would ascertain those views.

Oriticism of Williams.
"When the World Court issue was before him," Hay said, "he spent several weeks polling the Republican committee to find out what he should think and how he should vote. When the farm relief measure came up he did not have time to take a poll, so he spoke on one side of the question and voted on other. He did not propose Mayor Issues Appeal for Relief-National Guard Give Tents and Dry Clothing Is Needed.

By the Associated Press. BEARDSTOWN, Ill., Oct. 5.— Before tomorrow morning Beardstown may be an island. When the Lost Creek levee broke last night, three miles east of town, the prediction was made that the flood water in Lost Creek district would touch the hard road and surround Beardstown within 36 hours.

One hundred city blocks in Beardstown were covered with water at noon today and the city hall, scene of Abraham Lincoln's defense of Duff Armstrong, was surround-The Illinois River gauge stood at 24.1 feet, but the Government forecaster at St. Louis predicted a rise by Thursday to break the 1922

When the water fills the Lost Creek drainage district the hard road to Springfield will be covered and there will be no direction in which one may go without traveling through water.

Tents supplied by the Illinois National Guard and the old Lincoll Hotel which is still high and comparatively dry will be used to shelter the homeless. Mayor Harris, who estimated the loss to Beardstown at about $500,000, issued an appeal for relief. Dry clothing is one of the city's keenest needs. Commandant Whitney of the Salvation Army at Peorla arrived with a contingent of workers to aid in relief administration.

Rail Traffic in Central Illinois Suffers Froom Flood. By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 5 .-Railroad traffic throughout Central Illinois is suffering from flood. Tracks of the Illinois Traction System are washed out near Lincoln where workers are making a frantic effort to repair the tracks sufficiently to back a loaded train on to the Salt Creek bridge there, in an effort to keep the bridge from being washed away. Lincoln's lighting system is disrupted and the water supply is in danger, as the flood waters threaten the pumping Residents of Petersburg are unable to bury their dead. The cemetery lies across the Sangamon River from the town and the current is too strong to hazard crossing in boats. The road has been washed away. Each hour sees more farm lands under water and the corn crop in many sections is considered a total loss.

The Wabash has backed a train of loaded coal cars on to its bridge over the Sangamon River near Riverton in an effort to keep the structure from being washed away.

Highway traffic is at a standstill, except to the south. State highway policemen have been stationed at various points to deflect traffic from weakened bridges and washed-out roads. A number of tourists are stalled in this city. 15,000 Acres Near Vandalia, Ill.

Inundated When Levee Breaks. VANDALIA, Ill., Oct. 5 .- Nearly 15,000 acres of bottom land near here are under water following two breaks in the levee on the east side of the Kaskaskia River last night Residents in the area have moved to higher ground.

Raining Again at Peoria and River Is Continuing to Rise.
By the Associated Press.

PEORIA, Ill., Oct. 5.—Rising a foot in 24 hours the Illinois River reached a stage of 23.7 feet here this morning, forcing scores of river-front residents from their homes in East Peoria, where a fight is being made to save a levce helding back the stream. The levee is said to be safe, but some of the hundreds of families endangered were preparing to move out. The river is now only nine-tenths of a foot from the record high mark reached here in 1922.

Rain began falling again this morning, making this the minth straight day on which rain has fallen here.

Water Enters Cellars of Alton Flour Mills.

Continuing its rise at Alton, the Mississippi River today was entering the cellars of two flour mills, several commission houses and a number of other business establishments in the vicinity of West Broadway, but no serious damage was reported. With this warning. employes began to remove stocks to upper floor levels.

This morning the river's stage at Alton was 25.2 feet, 4.2 feet above flood stage, and the Weather Bureau predicted the crest would be reached at 27 feet on Friday. This will carry the flood into basements of about 40 residences of Negroes in East End place.

DEACONESS HOSPITAL FUND TOTALS $213,000

Workers Report $52,000 in Additional Subscriptions in Extended Campaign.

Members of the Commandery Club of St. Louis have started to raise $5000 to equip the memorial foyer of the proposed new Dea coness Home and Hospital. The first $100 has been pledged by S. Kalbenschlag, Lawrence, Shaeffer, Edward Hager, Dr. E. A. Babler and an anonymous donor. These embers of the club head the movement, and plan to invite the other 500 members to similarly pledge themselves.

Campaign workers, at their meet.

lng yesterday, reported additional subscriptions of $52,206. This makes the total $213,972.53. The campaign will be continued through the week. A report meeting will be held at noon tomorrow.

Dr. J. W. Shankland, Hospital Commissioner of St. Louis, urging forts to reach the $700,000 goal, declared that St. Louis is far short of its actual hospital needs.

"One large institution," he said, "has 1000 more patients than i was constructed to accommodate Other hospitals have from 200 to To say that St. Louis is 1000 beds short of its hospital needs is to underestimate it. St. Louis County is the only county in Missouri without a county hospital, and we must take care of the county poor and sick in our hospitals in the city." Among the larger gifts ahounced today were: Christopher Winkelmeyer, $1000: Dr. Henry L.

Nietert, $1000; J. C. C. Waldeck, $1000; Dr. F. J. Smith, $750; Sodemann Heat and Power Co., $600: Charles W. Hunegger (for baby crib memorial), $600; Dr. O. W. Koch, $500; John P. Stuckenburg, $500; Edward W. Wiese, $500; Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow K. Woods, $500; C. Simon, $500: John Prange. $500; Robert Pommer. $500; Dr. C. G. Jungk, $500.

THREE REPUBLICANS SEEK SENATORSHIP IN WISCONSIN

ame Factions That Fought It Out in Primary Trying for Lenroot's Seat.

By the Associated Press.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 5.—The same three Republican factions which participated in the bitter primary fight for the gubernator the election campaign in an effort to win the United States Senate seat of Irvine ial nomination will clash again eat of Irvine L. Lenroot. Each action is now represented by a

Charles D. Rosa, member of the Wisconsin Tax Commission, nounces that he will seek the Senate seat as a Progressive Republican follower of the late Robert M. La Follette and a foe of Gov. UPHOLDS RAID BASED ON ODOR U. S. Judge Says Smell From Residence Justified Warrant.

RINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 5. If the odor of corn liquor mash emanating from a residence is suf-ficiently clong, it will justify the issuance of a search warrant for the dwelling to a Federal prohi-bition enforcement agent, Judge A. S. Van Valkenburg ruled in the United States District Court here. He overruled defense motion to suppress evidence in the case against Huse Hyde of Springfield. charged with possession of a moon shine still, mash and corn liquor on the ground that the Commis sioner had exceeded his authority n issuing a search warrant for dwelling on no other evidence than a Federal prohibition enforcement agent's sense of smell.

M. J. Crewse, enforcement agent. testified that in passing Hyde's residence he had smelled liquor mash, and that A. L. Arnold United Statts Commissioner, had is-sued the search warrant upon this evidence. During the search of the house, he said, he found a still in operation, a barrel of mash and a half gallon of corn liquor.

U. S. JUDGE ACCUSES MINISTERS Says Clergyman Attempts to Sare Dry Law Violators.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 5. Even clergymen are coming to Federal Court in attempt to save wealthy law violators from punishment because of liberal contribu-tions to the church, United States District Judge John J. Gore leclared yesterday, in charging the Federal grand jury at the opening of the fall term of U. S. Court.

"The prohibition law never will be repealed or modified." Judge Gore told the jurors, urging them to investigate thoroughly all liquor cases. "It is here to stay." Judge Gore said that clergymen repeatedly came to his court to ask mer cy for a liquor law violator because he had contributed liberally to the Gangster Found in Hospital. Arthur "Bud" Hartman, asso-ciate of gangsters, was found by city detectives yesterday at the Lutheran Hospital suffering with an infected bullet wound in the left shoulder. He said it was an old wound suffered last May in St Louis County when he was fired by men he did not know.

NOTES FROM A TRANSATIANTIC

DIARY. From Edinburgh to Amsterdam by steamer; from the glories of Hollyrood to the rather disappointing grandeurs of the Queen's Palace, is one of the big jumps that the 10-minute tourist usually doesn't take. A tramp steamer offers nothing in the way of gold and plush, but comparative solitude and the sea for two days and nights are compensations enough for me. Two other passengers and myself occupied cabins under the small bridge and we had the boat and hurricane decks to ourselves, a thing well nigh impossible on a big liner. Th coasts of England and Holland are lined with lighthouses, making the North Sea at night look like a large ballroom, as Kipling well said.

he crew wore sabots or plomps with oil skin trousers tacked on to them, bright blue and red mufflers and squat flat caps. How they managed to get about the decks in stormy weather I don't know, as wooden shoes are not skid proof. I suppose they make use of the prevailing winds and currents and let her slide.

If you have 30 hours at your disposal and the bounding main doesn't affect your digestion, by all means take the trip from Edinburgh to Amsterdam. It is worth twice the trip by rail to London and across the channel to Flushing, and, better still, costs only a third, including meals. LORD HOWE DUMB.

POLITICS PREVENTS AN EXPERIMENT IN EVOLUTION.

We hear it rumored that one of our nearby cotton growers was planning to relieve the shortage of cotton pickers by importing a tribe of monkeys to do the pick-ing. The only thing which kept him from it was the warning a neighbor gave him. "You bring those monkeys in here." he said, "and within six months the Repub-Heans will have them voting." So the exriment was given up. -Sikeston (Mo.) Standard. . . .

The players as well as the public conducted themselves as though the word sportsmanship had not been forgotten, in baseball's bright lexicon.

After Many Days.

ST. LOUIS today again saw, after 38 years, a local baseball club battle a foreign invader for a world's championship.

The immense strides the game has taken in that time will hardly be appreciated by the rising generation, which has grown up in an era of vast stadiums, mil lion-dollar ball clubs and Babe Ruth salaries.

On that day in 1886 when the Browns of Chris Von Der Ahe marched out to face Anson's Colts in the only winner-takeall series ever played, the entire baseball plant could have been bought for about $25,000. The crowd would hardly be one-tenth of that which filled Yankee Stadium. The top price for seats was one-sixth of present day figure and the entire series gate receipts would 'not reach onetenth of one days total at the

The question most frequently asked is "has the baseball game itself improved along with the this is the question over which they still fight.

The only answer that can reasonably be made is that since progress has taken place in most everything else in the world it surely could not have made an exception of baseball. As a matter of fact, concentration on various features of play has intensified the preparation of up-coming ball players to degree where it is certain that they are mentally and manually more proficient than formerly

Thevenow's Blows in Pinch Not Surprising To Cardinal Manager

Manager Declares Batting Averages Mean Little-Praises

By Rogers Hornsby.

(As Told to a Post-Dispacth Representative Before Today's Game.) Well, those hard-hitting Yankees and our hard-hitting Cardinals have not done as much slugging as was expected in the first two games of the World Series, which goes to show how little you can depend on form in baseball, especially in trying to dope out a short series. Some of the statisticians have been telling me about the averthought that little Tommy Thevenow would be leading both teams n batting with the big average of 500? But that is just what he is doing, while Babe Kuth is hitting only .143, with one hit in seven times at bat. I can mention that without appearing to be crowing because that's exactly my average. Combs and Dugan are leading the chances, and that's only .333.

Batting Averages Mean Little.

Batting averages don't mean whole lot. Thevenow usually does not hit very much, measured by the official averages, but he gets most of his hits in the pinches. He is a game batter. Notice how he came through Sunday after O'Farrell doubled? That's what Theve now is-a great man in the pinch.

Take the Yankees averages. Gehrig is batting .143, but he drove n two of the four Yankee runs Lazzeri, with an average of .286, drove in the other run that was earned, while the fourth run was nearned, the result of an error.

The thing that is encouraging to us is that all of our seven runs were driven in by solid base hits, while only three of the Yankees' four runs were earned and one of them was given to them by our happen very often. We have made 15 hits and seven runs in two games and our team has batted while the Yankees, scoring ies games to be played here has four runs, have made only 10 hits made the St. Louis team the favor- and are batting only .175. Those ages for two slugging teams, are

By J. Walter Goldstein.

At just about the same time that the Cardinals were making their triumphant entry into the city yesterday afternoon, the Washington University football eleven was making a not-so-triumphant departure from its gridiron. Cheers and siren were rending the greater part of this municipal cosmos, but the campus and immediate environs of Washington University were quiet. The Victory Bell was all ready to lend its clang to the general din, but it didn't even tinkle. All this because the Bears lost the first game of their 1926 football campaign to Iowa State College, 6 to 6. Although the local eleven did not | some smiles from the Lady of Fate

Then a backfield in motion penalty of five yards, a fumble and a turned back end play pushed Washington back It will get better with the season to its 39-yard mark. Here Senne essayed a punt on the third down. Benne was called back to kick, in-stead of Wittler or Libman, the regular punters, because it was an odd sort of kick. It was done from closed formation, to deceive the opposition, in the hope that the ball would travel end over end past the safety man. The plan was fine, but the execution was not so good. Ames forwards rushed in, Senne retreated a step, poised the ball for a hefty boot-and missed. There was a scramble for the ball, and about four Ames men got there

It's the tobacco that makes the cigarette

THE tobacco itself is the thing. The paper is merely to hold the tobacco. That's why a cigarette made with Prince Albert is the grandest home-rolled article you ever put in your mouth. Better tobacco, better cigarettes-that's the long and the short of it.

Buy yourself a tidy red tin of good old P. A. today and roll some corkinggood cigarettes. Notice how easily this tobacco rolls. Doesn't fly or flutter if you happen to breathe on it. That's because Prince Albert is crimp-cut. But this is a detail. The tobacco's the thing.

You'll roll 'em and smoke 'em, morning to midnight, with this better tobacco. You'll find them cool-refreshingly cool -and sweet. Mild, too, without sacrificing that body which experienced smokers demand. Roll them with Prince Albert. No other tobacco is like it!

If you like a pipe, try P. A. this way too. P. A. is the world's favorite smoking tobacco. That first wonderful pull on your pipe will tell you why. Never a tongue-bite. Never a throat-parch. Just cool contentment, no matter how often NTESTINAL Putrefaction is a more frequent condition that has generally been gnized. Intestinal Putrefaction accordng to scientific medical authorities is constantly undermining the health, youth and trength of fully 90% of civilized mankind. intestinal Putrefaction is caused by the activity of the ordinary decay germs which are taken into the stomach along with most of our food. These common germs often held dormant in food, when tept in Ice boxes, usually commence their ctivity after eating, in the incubating armth and moisture of our stomachs and estines. They decay the waste and indigested food material within us and beneficial Moyer's Acid-O-Phil Tablets because the more you take the better and younger you'll feel and look. brain and body tissues. Thus it may be seen that the effects of Intestinal Putrefaction are far reaching. It often causes headaches, aching limbs, loss of physical vigor, constipation, intestinal gas, abdominal pains, depression, dizzy spells, sallow, pasty complexions, skin eruptions and even premature old age. Long ago it was found that ordinary treatment with drugs, medicines, laxatives, etc., only served to aggravate this condition, to such extent, that science was reconciled until recently, to take its presence for granted and to assume that there was no real way to correct inevitable Intestinal Putrefaction.

Fortunately the discoveries of "the great" Pasteur of France indicated a simple and easy way to triumph over harmful germs and disease. With his discoveries came the successful anti-toxins and more recently the Moyer's Intestinal Putrefaction Anti-toxic—"Moyer's Acid-O-Phil Tablets" which destroy the contaminating Intestinal germs of decay and thus banish Intestinal Putrefaction. They are easy and economical to take with either plain milk or water, results are quick and they do not form gas or upset the system or stomach in any way. MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 5.—Grey-ound races, promoted by the Midouth Kennel Club at a stadium across the Mississippi River from Memphis, were run last night without the operation of the sub-scription purse feature, which had een attacked as gambling.

The row of little wickets where subscriptions" had been placed on ogs was closed by order of Sheriff laude Cooper of Crittenden County, who explained he was acting v advice of Seal B. Harrison, Disrict Attorney in the Second Judicial District of Arkansas.

"The dog races will be run as usual, but without the purse, until this litigation is settled," an announcement told the crowd after the first race.

Gov. Terral of Arkansas said he would use State troops to stop the races if betting were allowed. Terral sent J. R. Wayne, State Adjutant-General, to Marion, seat of Crittenden County, opposite Memphis, with orders to end the rac-ing, using such force as might be required, if betting were allowed. LOOK FOR THE LATEST CHRYSLER BEAUTY

Soon another Chrysler announcement is

To the motoring public it will be as delightful and gratifying as that first Chrysler announcement three years ago.

The New Chrysler "70" which is to appear October 9 again will upset all the common conceptions of motor car beauty, of distinctive individuality, of flawless artistry and symmetry.

Once this was done in the initial Chrysler "70" - whose masterpiece design, at once an inspiration and a discomfiture to others, is now preserved and perpetuated in the Chrysler "50" and the Chrysler "60".

Now it is to be done all over again in the new Chrysler "70" on October 9, a car whose fresh, new beauty blandly ignores the accepted and the commonplace and strikes out into an even more pronounced Chrysler leadership.

See the Saturday Boening Post of October 9, on ale October 7, and newspapers throughout this peek and next Sunday for further details.

WANTED BUSINESS P'RP'SES

$90 a Year!

A client of ours desires locations for a street booth for advertising doministrations and sales purposes. The article to be featured is a clean, package product of universal demand. The booth is attractively designed and is 3½ feet wide by 6 feet deep.
Locations are wanted in all parts of St. Louis, and also in the suburban districts. The size of the booth makes any of the following locations desirable:

AREA-WAY BETWEEN BUILDINGS.
VACANT LOTS
UNUSED DRIVEWAYS.
STORE ARCADES OR DOCKWAYS.
WINDOWS. DOGEWAYS OF PARTS OF VACANT STORES.
SHEDIS OR BARNS.
OR ANY SIMILAR LOCATIONS. OR ANY SIMILAR LOCATIONS.

Locations will be leased for a yearly rent not to exceed $90. Here is an opportunity to capitalize on any idle space of yours!

REALTORS! Here's a chance to liven up the location of a vacant store, and at the same time collect rent on the space a booth occupies! Our proposition is unusual.
In case property is rented before the expiration of the booth's lease, it may be terminated by one week's Apply IN WRITING direct to us.

The Radiotron UX-201-A of today takes one fourth the drain on your batteries . . . with five times the "electron emission," as compared with a storage battery tube of 1921. It is being continually improved! For the last word in efficiency, always be sure to get genuine RCA Radiotrons

They last twice as long

THOUSANDS of folks are now buying their first rate five, six and even more tubes. Every one of the set. The vast majority of the new receivers radio receivers should be equipped with Even Heavy-Duty Batteries because these big "B" batteries last twice as long, under the same conditions as the Light-Duty "B" batteries. Smaller batteries. however, are often sold with a set as original equipment, in order to keep your initial investment as los as possible. This is a mistake.

As a matter of dollars and cents saved, it is hattery economy to buy either Eveready 45-volt Battery No. 770 or the even longer-lived Event Layerbilt No. 486. These big, husky "B" batte are more economical because they last twice as lens and cost only one-third more.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Welcome!

On an occasion when the public mind has turned momentarily from business to baseball, from ordinary routine to the gorgeous parade and ball of the Veiled Prophet---the Mississippi Valley Trust Company realizes that a discussion of its banking or financial services might be untimely.

Instead, the officers and directors of this great banking institution desire to express a hearty welcome to the Cardinals, to the visiting Yankees, to the Veiled Prophet and his retinue, to all of the city's outof-town guests.

Both from the standpoint of amusement and of the stimulating effect on the commercial life of the city, this will go down in history as a notable week in St. Louis.

Welcome!

POLICE ARREST TEN BOYS ON CHARGE OF LOOTING BOX CARS

lice yesterday, following investiga-tion into the looting of several box cars under the Union boulevard wunday a car was robbed of 150 pounds of chocolate bars consigned to the United Drug Co. Saturday a car of evaporated milk consigned to the same concern had been loot ed. For two months, police reported, they had been receiving reports of the robbery of cars in this locality.

Information obtained yesterday led to the arrest of some of the boys. Their statements led to the arrest of the others. Police said they admitted participating in the robberies, eating the chocolate and arinking the milk.

THE NEW FACTORS. CHAPTER 20.

E only reached New York from Florida this morning." Mrs. Howard Cushing, seated on the foot of a chaise lounge in the sitting room reserved for 'Mrs. John Hartley,' holding Doris' hand and patting it affectionately from time to time, addressed her desperate nephew brightly, "Howard," she beamed beatifically upon her husband who sagged weakly in a chair, "is anxious to join your father on the Riviera as quickly as possible, so we made reservations for the 'Arcadia' a week ago and left Miami as quickly as we could get ready. This morning, as soon as our train pulled in, I rang your apartment but nobody answered. Only fancy, you were just starting on your honeymoon, you secretive boy, and we didn't know a thing about it! Imagine our delight when we saw the passenger list a few minutes ago and found 'Mr. and Mrs. John Hartley.' You could have knocked me over with a feather."

Her nephew rather looked as though he wished someone had employed a more telling weapona black tack, for instance, but his aunt rattled joyously on:

"I think you're little bride is too adorable! Now, do tell me when it all happened."

She addressed Doris, pressing the latter's hand in both of hers. Doris looked helplessly at Hartley and he looked back at her for a dangerous moment. Then, goading his scattered faculties, he moistened suddenly dry lips and said, with an effort at a grin:

"I think-why, it was this morning. Yes, yes, of course, it was this morning."

"Dear boy," murmured the lady affectionately: "He's really quite dazed by his happiness, Howard. Do you remember," she besought her husband, "how you forgot all the trunk checks, when we left on our honeymoon, and we never got our luggage till the day before we returned home? And I had to wear a blouse and skirt the whole

"I always forget trunk checks," explained her husband with a sickly grin.

"Howard always forgets everything," his wife declared. "He has absolutely no head for details. Now Jack, tell me all about it." She returned to her nephew's inquisition, giving a delighted squirm. She was plump and pretty in a middle-aged way. She was the type that dotes on romantic novels and chocolate creams, young Hartley remembered with an inward groan. She could be counted on to attempt to dissect his supposed romance to the last kiss.

"Hurry up and tell us every-thing," she urged. "Or no," she gave Doris' fingers another squeeze, "you tell us, dear. Men always forget the really romantic Doris' eyes flew to Hartley's, revealing complete helplessness.

"I—it was very sudden"—— she

"Very," Hartley came to the rescue grimly. "We-er-just decided that's really all, Aunt Ada." "And you were married this morning before the boat sailed?" beamed the lady. "Just before the boat sailed," her nephew contributed feelingly. "Oh what an ideal way to start a honeymoon!" his aunt closed her eyes ecstatically. Martley remained grimly silent.

His aunt opened her eyes and demanded of nobody in particular: Doris rose to the occasion and said? "Oh, indeed, yes." "The little darling!" murmured

Aunt Ada. "Such sweet shyness. So refreshing nowadays." She gave Doris a playful little ish that almost landed her in Hartley's arms. "You musn't be shy with us, my dear. Your uncle and I are so sympathetic. We adore honeymooners, don't we, Howard? you just spoon all you want to." she urged her nephew, "and don't mind us old folks." Doris pulled away from arms that exhibited no inclination to hold her. She thought that Hartlev looked rather more as if he'd enjoy biting her ear viciously, than bestowing the caress which his aunt urged upon him.

A deep, melodious gong sounded along the ship's corridors. "Luncheon!" announced Hartley with satisfaction, as he rose quickly to his feet. breathed Uncle Howard devoutly, "I noticed plovers' eggs

"Now. Howard!" admonished his wife, "you know you must be awfully careful of your diet on ship-The doctor warned you!" "But I've had nothing except tea my two little honeymoon birds coming to the salon, or will you lunch in strictest seclusion?" "Oh, we'll come to the salon," declared Hartley, giving his "bride' a meaning and bitter look.

He herded his relatives out of the stateroom and closing the door upon them, turned to Doris "The seclusion stuff is all off-

THE KEY TO THE PUZZLE.

Doris returned to her stateroom, leaving Hartley and his aunt and uncle to partake of coffee and cigarettes in the lounge. She was feeling a little bit fagged after the exciting events of the morning. Even her healthy, normal serenity, her admirable ability to accept most issues in happy-go-lucky den acquisition, all in one morning, of a "husband" and a new aunt and uncle, not to mention a father-inlaw, who, judging by the conversation at luncheon, was somewhat ferocious and formidable, or was apt to be on occasion when other people's actions did not coincide

So she slipped away and returned to her cabin, deeply perplexed by the whole affair. Why, she asked herself, was Hartley supposed to be traveling with a wife who didn't exist? How had Camilla made such a mistake as to send roses and a note to a mythical woman? mystery-hadn't Hartley himself mentioned "scandal"— lurked behind the situation which had suddenly thrust her into the unpleasant and embarrassing situation of impersonating the wife of an almost strange young man? She found the answer to her perplexities on the dressing table. During her absence, a stewardess had come in to see that the suite was in order. She had found a crumpled sheet of note paper on the floor and had placed it where the occupant of the stateroom would be sure to see it.

Doris picked it up wonderingly, not recognizing it immediately as the note that she herself had carried to the boat and given to Hartley who had dropped it in that catastrophic moment when he had beheld his aunt coming toward him with welcoming arms. Doris read, with bewilderment:

"I can't snatch happiness at such a price to you. I can't let you do I wouldn't be the woman you loved if I ruined your life like this After a sleepless night, I have reached my decision-I am giving you up, though it breaks my heart Forgive me and think kindly of me. I do it all for your sake."

With a sudden, horrid shock, Doris realized that the note was signed "Camilla" and that it was unmistakably her cousin's handwriting. The truth dawned on her slowly, while letter in hand she stared down at the shiny luggage which the stewardess had now piled neatly in a corner.

she gasped, half aloud. "The beast! He was going to run away with Camilla!"

There was a tap on the door and the object of her horrified thoughts presented himself. He looked decidedly gloomy.

"Well," he remarked with shrug, "we seem to be in a deuce of a mess!" Doris' eyes flashed fire.

"Thanks to you," she said crisp-

"I suppose," he said, "you think deliberately lured you here to palm you off as my wife and invited my relatives to participate in the occasion?"

"I wouldn't put it past you," remarked Doris with dignity, "after what I've learned." His brows lifted with madden ing politeness. "Really? Are you a very discerning young person or am I so transparent in my wickedness?" Doris opened her fingers and silently held out to him Camilla's crumpled note. He stared. "Where did you find it?" And at her shrug he added ruefully: "I'm not very clever at this adventure business. A bad thing to have dropped on shipboard for anvone to pick up. Although I will say,' he remarked as a grim after thought, "that the lady in the case was clever in her choice of ambignous phrases. I'm very much afraid that she wasn't thinking only of me and doing it all for my sake, as she claims.

Doris said with dignity: There are no words to tell you how completely I loathe and despise you!"

"I am honored." Again he made her that ironical bow, his handsome mouth set in bitter lines. "As a matter of fact, I am not very keen about you. I can think of any number of girls I would rather have chosen for an-er-impromp-

"Oh, you don't know Aunt Ada," he assured her with a sudden access of cheerfulness. "She'll he here like a shot to hold your head and read to you and pump you full of questions." Doris collapsed on the foot of the

MEDITATIONS MARRIED WOMAN By HELEN ROWLAND

TIT HEN a man begins to complain of the cold in the moonlight, there is no use trying to fool yourself any longer. The frost is on his love!

Most brides go to the altar in flowing veils and white satinmost bridegrooms in a cold perspiration.

To the girl who steals another woman's husband, there always comes a poignant moment, when she realizes that he is beginning to get "homesick" and to look over his shoulder to see if he can find the tracks that lead back to his wife.

The average man's heart is like a sponge; no matter how badly it has been "wrung," it springs right back into shape again, at the first smile from a sympathetic woman.

The most pathetic sight on earth is that of a stalwart six-footer trying to laugh off his little half-portion wife's burst of reprimand.

Marriage is like Christmas shopping. No matter how often you have been through it, you always go into it, next time, with the same hope and enthusiasm-and come out with the same old "What'sthe use" feeling.

Many a wife has been amazed to discover that her husband, who was too "helpless" at home to pour his own coffee or open his own eggs, is known among his fishing cronies as the "best cook and dishwasher in camp."

After a girl has tried 40 or 50 ways of making a man propose marriage, she can nearly always succeed, at the last moment, by "giving him up" for another man.

A girl misses half the thrills and heartaches in life if she doesn't marry-and the other half if she does. (Copyright 1926.)

"Such wonderful plans," she ex-plained. "And everything to send them right through! I've never dreamed of such an opportunity. Why, I'll be rolling in wealth in a year or so. And the most fasci-nating work!"

It sounded rather familiar. I remembered that she'd said almost the identical words the last time I saw her. Not so long ago, either. "What happened to the last job?" I enquired.

"Oh-well, you see it sort of dragged after a bit and I got rather ored. An awful lot of digging on that job. Of course I don't mind working hard. But... Anyway this came along and I just couldn't reman stepped on Slippery Slim. Danny went over one side head first toward the bank. He made a very tiny splash. You wouldn't have heard that splash if you had been there, because there was a bigger splash at the same time. The bigger splash was the man going backward out of the boat on the other side. Slippery Slim the Eel hadn't given him good footing at all. Slippery Slim was well named. So, splash went the man into the water on the other side of the boat.

What the man said Danny never knew. You see, he was so scared that he scrambled up that bank as fast as his little legs could take him. He thought he was the most abused Meadow Mouse that ever lived. But he wasn't, for unknown to him he had been given a long, long lift toward home. As for the man-well, never mind what he said.

ARE and slice one-half dozen tart apples. Put in a buttered baking dish and add 1 cup of sugar, a little ground nutmeg, a little salt, a tablespoonful of butter, and enough hot water to about cover the apples. Bake until tender and brown. Then add the custard given below: Soak 1/2 cup of instantaneous tapioca in 2 cups of milk for 5 minutes. Beat the yolks of 3 eggs, add 1/2 cup of sugar, a little salt, 1 teaspoonful vanilla, and 2 cups of milk. Mix the soaked tapioca in this and stir all into the baked apples. Return to oven and bake until pudding is done. Then put on meringue made as follows: Beat the whites of 3 eggs stiff and dry, add 6 heaping tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar, 1 teaspoonful of vanilla and a speck of salt. Spread on pudding. Return to oven again on oven shelf and bake very slowly with oven door open until nice and brown. Meringue should feel firm to the touch. (Canned apples may also be used for this pudding.)

Note-Capt. George and Tom certainly did love this apple tapioca. They would always ask for a generous second helping, and I think Tom once took a
